
NATURALLY we keep pretty close tab on the Campbell fire department and its activities... Each week our gal Grace Hebard, for example, with the assistance of Janet Jessen, secretary of the fire department, tabulates the fire calls for the week.

And, of course, the more outstanding fire calls get a bigger play (as the explosion last week on McGlincey).

On a recent Sunday when two pieces of fire equipment rolled down our street (Ridgeley), we checked to see if it was a major conflagration (which it wasn't) and then continued about our business.

We assumed it would be covered in the "fire calls" in our next issue.

But it wasn't. So we were a little burned.

There was no report of the Campbell equipment rolling down our street that Sunday afternoon, we learned.

But we had seen 'em, we told Chief George Maxwell. So what gives.

They came down our street and, by golly, we live in the city.

-o-

IF WE HAD BEEN the only ones who had seen the fire engine going down our street, we would have been a little concerned over it. We might have thought we had flipped our lid.

But, others (including our wife) had seen 'em. So we were safe on that score.

So Maxwell became a little concerned also. On our say so, he was ready to raise heck with Jerry Gomes, the captain who was on duty, for not logging in the trip.

Anyway it turned out that fire engines did go down our street that day.

But it was county equipment, not Campbell's.

The call was to a residence that was outside the city limits and the only way the county wagons could get to it was through Campbell.

After checking this out, George was happy to report his findings to us. He added something about an editor should, of all people, know where he lived. Or, at least, recognize his own city's fire equipment and men.

Admittedly we did feel a little foolish.

We had thought that the Campbell city limits went all the wav to Leigh Avenue.

And along Hamilton Avenue the limits do extend that far.

It illustrates again how mixed up the boundaries are around here.

We just have to study the map a little better.

City attorney refutes former mayor's charges

Charges by a former mayor made at the City Council meeting Monday night that the present mayor and vice-mayor were not within their legal rights in advocating the opening of Rincon and Latimer avenues were immediately refuted by the city attorney.

City Attorney Joseph Bonacina ruled that the accusations made by Pete Lico against Mayor Charles Rose and Vice-Mayor Ralph Doetsch were without foundation and that there was no conflict of interest involved by the two councilmen.

Lico interrupted a report on the Trafficways Committee being made by Mayor Rose to make the charges that because Rose and Doetsch both owned property on Rincon Avenue, they should not have taken part in the unsuccessful action to get the expressway agreement modified. Under the agreement signed by the council two years ago, both Latimer and Rincon will be closed off when the expressway is constructed through town.

Lico was mayor at the time the expressway agreement was adopted.

Ironically the report on the Trafficways Committee that Rose was making had no reference to Rincon and Latimer, inasmuch as the mayor had explained that the matter had been settled. Both the committee and

QUITE A SUPPLY--Fire Marshal Gene Borden checks over some of the chemicals that were taken from the room occupied by Jose Angulo, Camden High student, of 454 McGlincey Lane, after an explosion took place that seriously injured the youth last Thursday night. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Angulo, is still in the hospital with badly mutilated hands. The boy's room, Borden reports, was heavily stocked with several types of chemicals, including potassium sulphate, black powder explosives, magnesium and sodium phosphate. The explosion sent the 15-year old youth reeling across the bedroom and rocked the house.

Home folks honor stars

Craig Morton, Jack Schraub receive awards

Two Campbell High graduates, who by their exploits on the collegiate gridiron at the University of California won national recognition for their school and community, were honored by their home town last Thursday night.

The city, Chamber of Commerce and the faculty and students of Campbell High joined forces in sponsoring a recognition banquet at which real "hometown" awards were made to the two youths, who began their fabulous athletic careers in grade school here.

Eddie LeBaron, a dimunitive former football player in both collegiate and professional ranks, was the principal speaker. LeBaron, now a Reno attorney, told of some of his experiences in the pro circuit as a sort of preparation for the two local stars. Both Schraub and Morton have signed contracts with Dallas, a team on which LeBaron played. Among their awards at the dinner were Texas 10-gallon hats.

Jim Muir, of the Campbell High faculty, who coached Craig and Jack during their high school days, recalled some of their most outstanding prep exploits. Film clips of both Campbell High and Cal games were also shown.

Master of ceremonies for the event was Bud Foster, radio sports announcer, who broadcast most of the Cal games.

A full page of pictures of the big night, rated as one of the most successful community affairs in local history, appears on page 10 of this issue.

RAIN DROPS!!

With three months yet to go in the rainy season, the rainfall has already exceeded last year's total. Rainfall to date is 11.80 inches compared to 8.10 inches at this time last year and a season's total of 11.08.

The latest storm from January 19 on brought .93 inch according to the Campbell Water Co. gauge. Normal for this time of year is 8.10 inches.

C. of C. dinner takes place on February 4

New officers of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce will be installed at the annual C. of C. dinner on Thursday, February 4, at the Villa Felice.

The dinner will also feature the annual "member of the year award". This presentation will be made by Ted Regas, chairman of the committee, and is the best-kept secret of the community.

Another highlight of the evening will be the presentation of a preview of "South Pacific" by Campbell High students under the direction of Larry McCommas. The production in full will be presented at the high school on March 26-27 and April 2-3.

Ticket sale has been brisk, according to the installation dinner committee

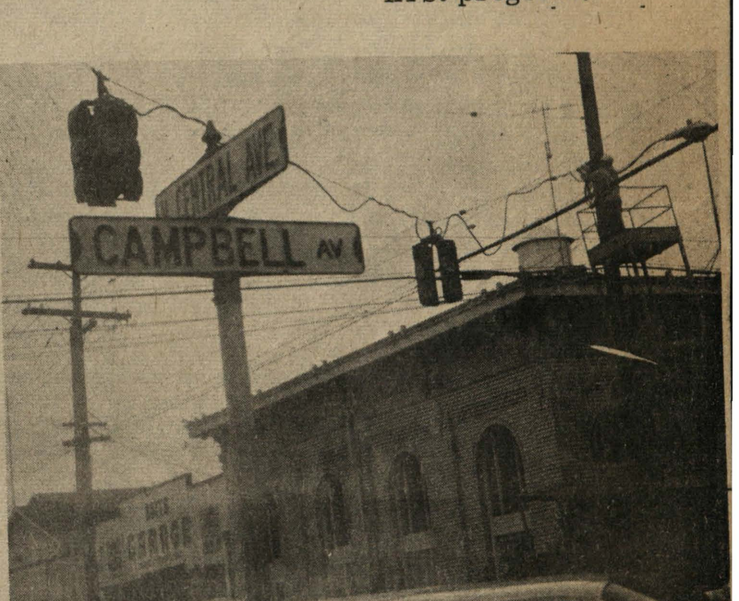
Campbell to get weekly airing on radio station

Arrangements have been made to put Campbell on a weekly 10-minute radio program, over KGBA, Paul Landwehr, secretary-manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, reported this week. The program starts on Tuesday, February 2, at 6:30 p.m.

According to Landwehr the program will present information about Campbell and its people and many individual citizens will appear on it.

It will also include a community calender portion. Mrs. Sara Fischer is arranging the first calender of community activities and will present it on the first program. Mrs. Fischer can be contacted at 378-4902.

Jack Dawson, local attorney and outgoing C. of C. president, and Ron Tharp, of IBM, incoming prexy, will be special guests on the first program.



SIGNALS READY--Congested traffic conditions at Central and Campbell avenues will be alleviated to a great extent, city officials hope, with the installation of traffic signals at that intersection. This week most of the work was completed for the installation of the long-awaited traffic lights.

House to office?

An interesting discussion is now taking place among city officials over the changing of the text of the present zoning ordinance regarding requirements for conversion of dwellings to office use in the P-O (professional office) zone.

Members of the Planning Commission at their last meeting recommended that no changes be made in the present ordinance. They maintained the zoning on property now properly applied is sufficient and adequate for proper development of Campbell.

Most of the members of the City Council, on the other hand, have voiced concern over the loopholes in the present requirements for P-O zoning which allows a residence to be converted to an office. However, the city zoning regulations prohibit converting a residence for business use.

Some time ago when the matter first was discussed by city officials, we pointed out that there definitely were two schools of thought on the subject.

We explained, for example, that in many instances, professional office areas are often used as a "buffer" between commercial and residential sections of the town. Thus, it certainly made sense for the design of the professional buildings to blend into that of residences rather than to have boxlike structures adjacent to homes.

To carry this one step further. If the objective is to "blend in" so to speak, it would naturally follow that what better design is there for a "blend" than simply converting a home into an office.

But the situation is not quite that simple.

There is nothing attractive about a hit or miss development of former homes into offices. There are some examples of this type of "improvement" that we can cite which certainly do not add to the overall picture of a community.

But, then, where can the line be drawn?

What we consider one of the unfair points is that in the definition of "professional office". In other words, who decides what type of operation is a "profession" or what type is strictly a "business?"

Businesses are prohibited from using a former residence in the conduct of their affairs. But under the city ordinance, as it now stands, professions can do so.

This, in our thinking, provides a troublesome bug.

Journalism, for example, is rated as a profession.

But, we know darn well, that we would not be allowed to convert a residence into a newspaper office.

Maybe the line can be drawn on machinery and equipment. If a business or profession uses any type of mechanical aids in their daily routine, maybe they should be prevented from converting a former residence into an office.

But, shucks, how much equipment are we talking about?

Many offices of dentists and doctors are equipped with more valuable equipment (dollarwise) than our little old newspaper plant.

So we doubt, if using machinery as a base, would be fair.

Maybe these are "far-out" examples. Yet it does, in our mind, emphasize an interesting point.

The whole picture is certainly something that should be explored thoroughly before any final decision is made.

Selfishly we feel that this discrimination between "professions" and "businesses" is bad.

We also feel that there have been some pretty horrible examples of "conversions" into professional offices.

Yet we concede that some NEW professional office structures designed along residential lines in "buffer zones" are attractive.

Perhaps the compromise would be that ONLY in these buffer zones should these conversions be allowed and then under strict building regulations.

But we do not know whether limiting this conversion activity to buffer zones is practical, legal or proper.

All we know is that it is a good question... and a tough one for which to find the right answer.

sales tax income from automobile agencies or their allied services. In Campbell the take for the same period was only $570 from "allied services", as their is no car dealer in town.

The contrast was so startling that it apparently threw some people into a state of shock. We had not realized that there could be that much difference in income.

Of course Los Gatos has an outstanding "auto row". No one dreams that such a row could ever come to Campbell.

But we think every effort should be made by city and Chamber of Commerce officials to land an auto agency of some description.

It is money in the bank, so to speak.

Speaking of banks, one guy pointed out that Campbell has five banks, two more than Los Gatos has. With his tongue in his cheek, he suggested that we make a trade with Los Gatos.

Give that city two banks, say, for one car agency.

But he doubted that Los Gatos would go for it. It would be a bad deal for them.

You see banks don't help the sales tax picture. That's not quite true. You use them to draw the checks to pay the tax and they do finance the cars that are sold.

But, we admit, five banks-and not a single car agency in one town seems a little out of balance. Like our check book.

CAMPBELL proudly paid tribute to two young guys the other night in one of the most successful affairs we can recall in our nine-year stint in this community.

We refer, of course, to the civic event honoring Craig Morton, Campbell's first All-American and Jack Schraub, the lanky, sticky-fingered end who broke almost every pass-catching record on the Bear campus.

Both boys went through grade and high school in Campbell. They starred at Campbell High and went on to do the same at Cal. They now go on to pro football in Dallas.

Although we all want to see the boys make good in the pro ranks, the community tribute paid them last week was not because of what they will do when they play for pay. It was for the recognition they have already brought to their school and community

We are mighty proud of the two youngsters and their records both on and off the field. The pictorial display in this issue of the dinner which was jointly sponsored by the high school, Chamber of Commerce and the city indicates this.

Craig and Jack were given with many awards and gifts at the dinner. The city, school district, student body and the C. of C. all made presentations to the two grid stars.

We, at The Press, were a little slow on the up-take.

We also should have gotten into the act.

After all, Craig is an ex-carrier of The Press and the first of our carriers to make the All-American football team.

We just were't on the ball.

That should have deserved something.. Maybe Craig's old newspaper bag. Suitably engraved, of course.

supervisors had refused Campbell's plea to open the streets.

Lico, however, apparently took exception to the tone of Rose's voice when the mayor was explaining the formula used for financing the expressways. Rose reported that cities without expressways would get 70% back for street improvements and would pay no maintenance costs.

Cities, such as Campbell, on the other hand, must pay 100% of the expressway costs and, in addition, pay the maintenance and landscaping expenses. Rose emphasized that he was not being bitter but simply explaining the facts.

Lico, however, jumped to his feet and claimed that Rose was bitter and then went on to make his charges.

The City Council attempted to get the expressway agreement changed when a mass "grass roots" movement, stimulated by the Chamber of Commerce, business people and residents indicated that the closing of the two streets would be detrimental to the entire community.

But the council's efforts were in vain.

They came to the right place

A Campbell Police Officer became one of the injured when he investigated an automobile crash which occured in front of Police Headquarters Saturday night, January 23.

Sgt. Paul Schommer asked the three persons involved in the crash, Austin Dwain Yeager, 24, his wife, Janice Sue Yeager, 18, 760 E. Campbell Avenue, and her companion, Carol McDowell, 13461 Browns Lane, Los Gatos, to come into Police Headquarters. He ordered Yeager to stand in the corner while he interrogated the others. At this point, Schommer reported, Yeager started swinging, and had to be restrained. Schommer suffered a cut to his eye.

Yeager was booked on a complaint charging battery, assault on a police officer, assault with a deadly weapon (his vehicle) and no valid Driver's License.

Dwelling 'conversion' causes City dissension

Campbell councilmen are divided in their opinions as to whether residences should be converted into offices in the P-O (professional zone).

That was apparent on Monday night when the Council learned that the Planning Commission had unanimously recommended to keep the present ordinance which allows conversion of dwellings into offices rather than amend it and rule out any conversion.

But a motion by Councilman Ed Rogers, seconded by Councilman Bob McElroy was withdrawn when it was discovered that the proposed amendment still would allow more than two-family dwellings to become offices.

The staff was then directed to redraft an ordinance which would rule out all dwellings being converted. But even this motion was carried by only a 3-2 vote.

Councilman Bill Smeed pointed out that the unanimous Planning Commission report should not be ignored. He added that many office buildings now use residential styling in their designs.

Councilman Ralph Doetsch maintained also that the present ordinance could be effective, provided all the controls were exercised. He said that the city had been lax in the past in allowing some of the conversions. He agreed with the Planning Commission that the present ordinance should be given a fair trial.

Mayor Charles Rose indicated that he felt all conversions should be stopped because of what had happened.

By Council direction the staff will prepare a new ordinance and a hearing will then be set. City Attorney Joseph Bonacina said he would rule next meeting whether the ordinance would have to be referred to the Planning Commission again because of the change.

Fire damages home on Linda

Fire destroyed the contents of a three bedroom home Saturday at 910 Linda Drive, Campbell. Joe M. Holt was alone in the house while his wife and four children were visiting relatives. Firemen said the blaze began in the bedroom.

Holt told firemen he had been smoking a cigarette when he retired about midnight. He was awakened by the fire about 3 1/2 hours later. After trying to extinguish the blaze, he ran to the home of a neighbor who called the Fire Department.

League request raises point

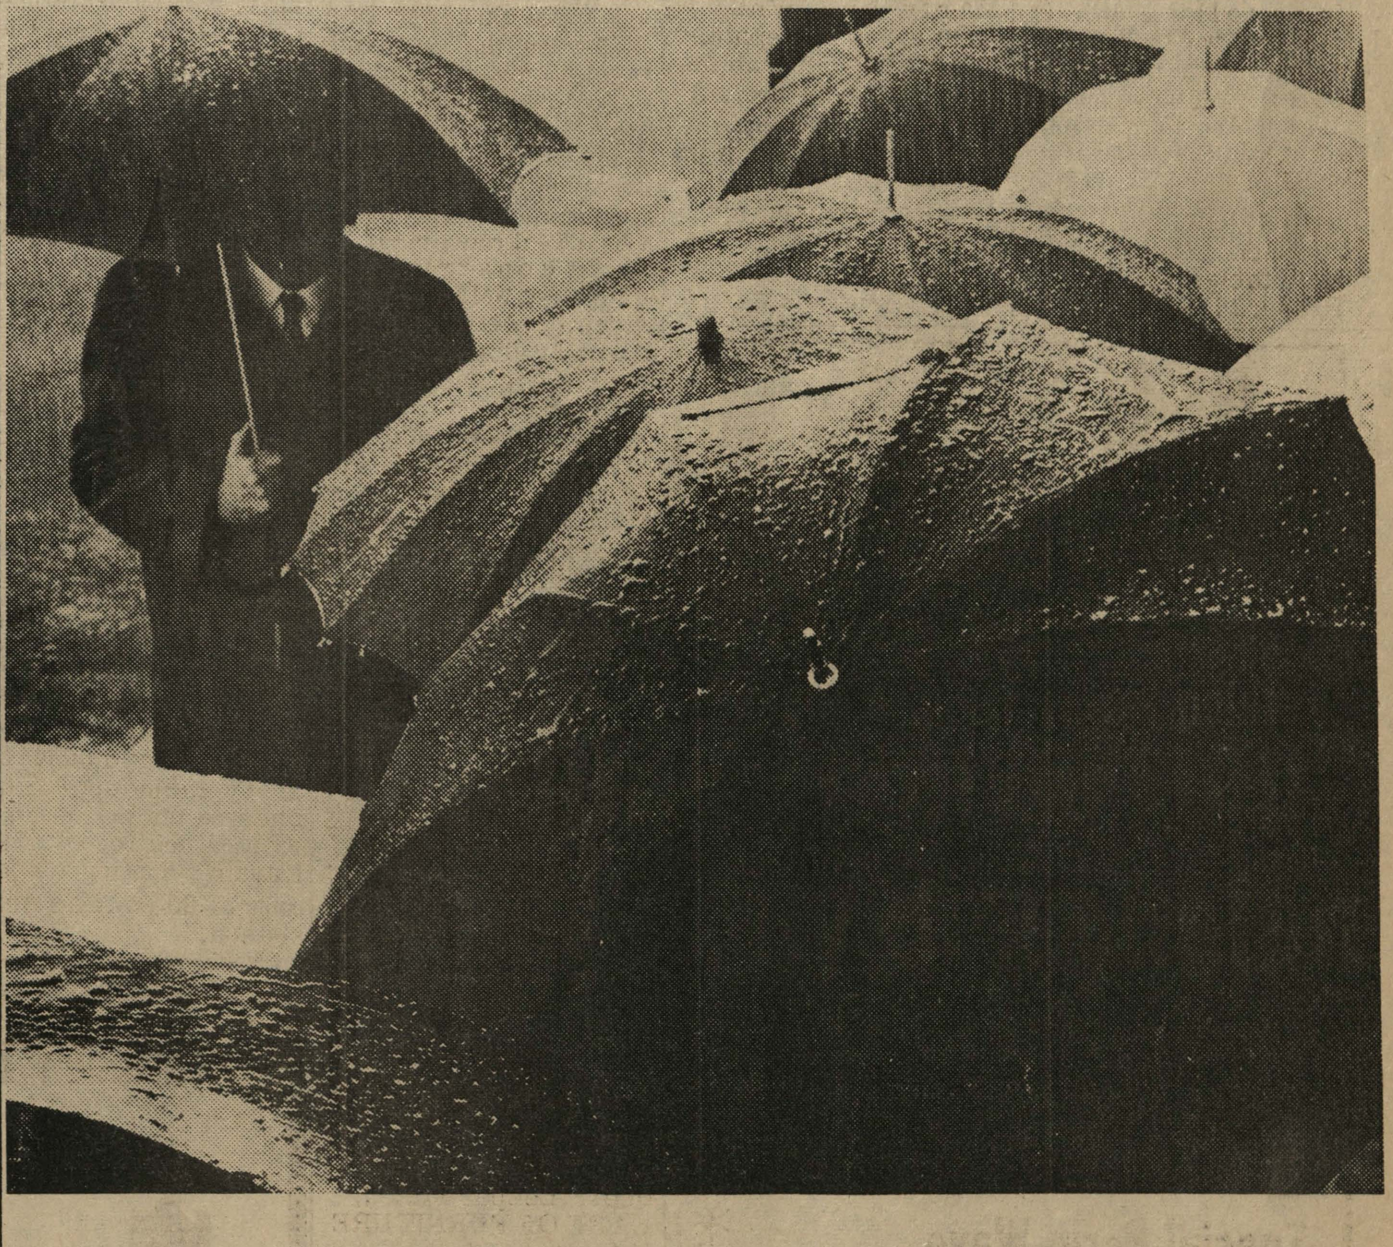
A routine written request by Roger J. Gaetjen, president of Campbell-Moreland Pony League, to allow the league to again use the Rincon Park for league play from April through July, ran against some roadblocks at the City Council meeting Monday.

The league had requested that the city install a better water supply, allow the use of a city-owned "shack" and that the city clean off all the accumulated weeds. The league also wanted exclusive concession rights.

The Campbell-Moreland team last year won the world's championship playing at the same park.

However, a number of councilmen questioned giving any organization exclusive use of a city facility for a period of time. And a few harsh words were tossed back and forth among the councilmen concerning this phase of the deal.

The Council voted to defer action until next meeting when a report on what the request would cost the city would be made. Although, all councilmen admitted that the Pony League was doing a great job, some felt that care should be taken as to what privileges were granted to any group.



Nice day for a dryer.

But then again, so is every day. Because in addition to letting you dry the wash day or night—in any weather—a dryer dries better than anything under the sun. For example, with new damp dry settings, clothes come out just right for ironing. And some things need no ironing at all. Clothes also come out as clean as they went in. No clothesline marks, dust or dirt. Dryers also have a real soft touch. All your laundry comes out light and fluffy.

So far we haven't even mentioned how much work a dryer saves. But will save you lugging 2 tons wet wash a year.

Campbell Adult class learns about furniture

by Shirley Hess

Why is this piece of furniture more expensive than the next when they both look alike? The answer to this question was explained by James Leaper, manager of Lion's Furniture Store in Town and Country Village, when the Campbell Adult Interior Decorating classes toured the store recently with instructor Diana Payne.

Leaper pointed out the many differences in quality and construction of case goods and upholstered pieces. To tell the quality of a drawer, he reported, take it out and place it on top of the dresser to see if it is short-drawered. A manufacturer can save a lot of money in board feet by short-drawering. A well constructed drawer will have oak sides, a center guide, dovetailing and dust-proofing under each drawer.

Birch, maple and oak are often found in solid woods, but most furniture, even very expensive pieces, are found in a veneered finish. A great many people, Leaper pointed out, have an idea that a veneered finish is not good. In past years a softwood core was used and the glue would absorb into the wood and the veneering would not adhere well. Thus you may have found it peeling. When hard wood core is used the veneer adheres very well. There is one problem with a veneered piece and that is a burn. This can easily be camouflaged by a good furniture refinisher with stick lacquer, Leaper stated.

CARE OF FURNITURE

Leaper also recommended washing furniture once a year with a mild solution of detergent and warm water. Do not soak the wood. Dry it thoroughly and wax. If you do not wash the old wax off, it may dry and craze. Do not wash an oil finish. Do not use a wax with a silicone base on furniture. It may have a reaction on the lacquered finish.

An oil finish on wood may be preferred. It doesn't usually show dust as much and a fine steel wool can be used to remove the scratches. Never wash or wax a true oiled finish. After a few waxings it may turn white and nothing can be done about it. Oil the wood with either a commercially prepared oil or make it yourself by mixing 2 parts of turpentine to 1 part of linseed oil. Many pieces are represented by salesmen as having an oiled finish, Leaper said. Most are not true oiled finishes. They have a 10 sheen lacquer finish which looks like oil. A true oil finish is not usually smooth. It will feel more like an unfinished piece of wood. Be sure to check for this. Most of the tables have the 10 sheen lacquers.

Next week The Campbell Press will review the price variance in upholstered furniture and Scotch Guarding.

RAISIN-BANANA COOKIES

My children love these. They are a very moist, tasty cookie and will keep well. They are a natural to send by mail, also. This is a good way to use those bananas that get too soft to eat, and you hate to waste.

3/4 cup butter
2/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup ripe banana
1/2 c
1/2 tsp. baking soda
3/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 1/2 cup flour
1 3/4 cup oatmeal
1 cup raisins

Cream butter and sugars well. Add egg and beat, stir in banana, add flour, soda, salt and cinnamon. Stir in oatmeal and raisins. Drop by teaspoonsful onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in hot oven about 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Makes 5 dozen.

APPLESAUCE CAKE

2 cups flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 egg unbeaten
1 cup raisins
1 cup walnuts
1 cup applesauce

Cream butter and sugar well, then add flour, soda, salt, cloves, nutmeg, cinnamon and egg. Mixwell, add raisins and nuts. Poor into 9 x 9 or loaf pans. Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 to 30 minutes. When done allow to cool slightly. Turn out on rack to cool. May be served plain or with cream cheese frosting and chopped nuts on top.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

1 3 oz. pkg. cream cheese
2 Tablespoons cream
1 cup powdered sugar
1 tsp. vanila
pinch of salt

THAT FEMININE TOUCH

By Dolores Keywood

At a recent gathering of many men and women, I took advantage of the opportunity to ask a question lot of people have been anxious to know the answer to. The question is "What is your pet peeve where the opposite sex is concerned?"

This week's column will be devoted to the answers I received most often by men and next week you will see the women's side.

I have condensed each reply, not only to save space, but because I think their ideas get across just as well.

Women will be given equal time next week, so be sure the man in your life reads next weeks column.

If I hit home on any of the following remarks and you feel you would like to ask questions, please call me at 378-8180 or write to me in care of the Campbell Press.

Speaking for all of the instructors, Capt. Teel said: "We are happy to have you with us today and regret that you can not stay throughout the Seminar. I hope that many of you will be able yo attend at least the Thursday afternoon session on 'The Challenge'. You would find this class to be as challenging as it is rewarding."

During the day the students received a capsule version of part of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces course normally given only to senior military officers and high civilian officials of the Federal Government. The classes were presented by members of the College faculty.

The Seminar was held from January 11 to 22.

Colonel Robert L. Goerder, USAF, Chief of the team of instructors, described the Seminar as one "which in 10 days will arm you with information on national and international problems which you need to exercise your rights and privileges as a citizen - information that you could not research yourself in less than two years of full-time effort".

The students were accompanied by teachers from the School District:

New 1965 phone book appears

A color photo of the Santa Clara County Administration Building appears on the cover of the 1965 San Jose-Santa Clara directories now in the hands of subscribers.

The directory also contains listings for Campbell, Cupertino, Los Gatos, Milpitas, San Martin and Saratoga.

W. E. Simmons, Pacific Telephone manager, said 246,500 of the directories will be delivered Thursday, January 21.

The statistics each year dramatically point out the region's growth. This year 679 tons of directories were printed. A weighty problem for delivery men, that's 106 tons more than were necessary last year.

The number of pages of alphabetical listings jumped from 456 to 480; yellow pages went from 752 pages in 1964 to 758 pages this year. There are 173,464 names listed in the alphabetical section.

CLASSIC CHECK--A suspicious-looking check? Not to the grocery clerk who cashed it, much to the probable merriment of the casher. But it's no laughing matter to California merchants, whose bad check losses are estimated to exceed $35 million annually. To combat bogus check passers in this area, Bank of America's Merchants Loss Prevention Clinic will appear here February 2.

Bank of America branches here to sponsor bad check clinics

Campbell merchants will have two chances next week to "immunize" themselves against bogus check passers who silently rob California businesses of millions of dollars every year.

The opportunities will be afforded by Bank of America's traveling Merchants Loss Prevention Clinic, which will appear February 2 at the Hamilton Plaza branch, 1690 South Bascom Avenue, and February 3 at the Campbell branch, 125 East Campbell Avenue.

Both programs will begin at 7:30 p.m., with local law enforcement officers as well as merchants invited to attend. Hosts will be Theodore J. Regas, manager of the Campbell branch, and Oscar S. Sorenson, manager of the Hamilton Plaza branch.

Highlight of the two-hour program is an 18-minute color sound-slide film entitled "They Shall Not Pass." It outlines 11 methods merchants can use to eliminate bad check losses, estimated to exceed $35 million annually in California.

The film also emphasizes that check supplies and equipment used by individuals, corporations, or even government agencies can be obtained and used by clever forgers, making it necessary for merchants to thoroughly identify check presenters.

A second soundslide film deals with the proper methods of handling cash and exposes some of the techniques used by short change artists.

In addition to the films, the clinic utilizes display panels showing bogus checks, counterfeit currency, and methods of comparing signatures.

The clinic will conclude with a question and answer period and with the distribution of pamphlets summarizing the clinic's salient points. Light refreshments will be served.

Campbell O.E.S. will have a Valentine party

A valentine's party is on the agenda for the next meeting of the Campbell Chapter, 553, Order of Eastern Star, when it meets on Friday, February 5, at the Grange Hall, 109 No. First St., Campbell.

Mrs. Robert DuBois is chairman of the evening's entertainment. All members are urged to attend this evening of fun. Interested persons desiring further information are requested to call Richard Heiser, 867-3341, evenings.

Pops program at Blackford

Cool jazz and Broadway hits will highlight the third annual Pops Concert at Blackford High School, Friday and Saturday evenings, January 29 and 30. The varied program will feature Count Basie arrangements by the dance band as well as selections by the Symphonic Band. The orchestra, directed by Raynold Alvin, will also play semi-classics. Admission will be fifty cents for students and one dollar for adults. Refreshments will be served. The program will be presented in the cafetorium.

Eastfield will elect officers

The annual meeting of Eastfield Home for Children, headquartered here at 251 Llewellyn Avenue, will be held at noon, Tuesday, February 2, at the San Jose Country Club.

Election of board members and officers will follow the luncheon. Discussion groups presided over by an Eastfield staff member will be held at each eight-guest table.

Executive Director Karl Marshall said the meeting is open to all persons interested in the welfare of children. Luncheon, at $3 will be served at 12:15 preceded by an 11:30 social hour.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

By
Gladstone A. Boquist

Q. I applied for social security retirement payments last August when I was 68. As of that month, I had earned $3500. Later, in November, I returned to work part-time at $125 per month and notified the Social Security Administration. Should I file an annual report of my earnings for last year?

A. Yes, you must file an annual report no later than April 15, 1965. You'll be asked to give your total earnings for last year to show the months you earned $100 or less, whether you are still working for over $100 per month, and to estimate how much you expect to earn this year. Your estimate is needed to decide the number of social security checks you should get this coming year.

Q. I am a widow, 64 years of age, and collecting social security widow's benefits. How will remarriage affect my benefits?

A. It will stop your benefits, unless you marry someone who is also getting social security benefits. In that case, you will be able to receive wife's benefits on his account.

Q. My mother, who is collecting social security benefits, became ill recently and is now in a State hospital. She can't handle her own social security checks. What should I do?

A. You (or another interested relative) should get in touch with the Social Security Office to inquire about the possibility of appointing a representative payee. The Social Security Office will also advise you how the checks should be handled.

Q. I am getting social security benefits for my three children on my late former husband's account. My present husband plans to adopt my children. Should I notify the social security office, and how will this affect the children's social security checks?

A. The adoption of your children by a step-parent will not stop their social security checks. However, you should notify your local social security office.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS will begin their candy sale this next week to raise funds to support their summer camps. Be looking for these youngsters in their cute uniforms selling chocolate mints...

West Valley cagers win

West Valley's cagers coasted to their most convincing win of the season last Friday when they whipped Hartnell 95-66 at Campbell High.

The victory gave the Vikes a 2-1 league record and 7-8 overall.

The Vikings were paced by Dave Galos and Bob Burton. Galos, who is averaging 21, ripped the Panther defense with their deadly outside shooting and drive shots. Galos had 22 for the night while Burton gained high honors with 29.

Both Galos and Burton received strong support from Roger Call, Bill Felkins, and Jim Pruitt.

Next Friday the Vikings will tackle the league favorites, Menlo at Menlo. Menlo is the tallest team in the league as they look to 6-6 Bruce Steckel and 6-7 Stu Watterson to dunk the ball over their smaller opponent.

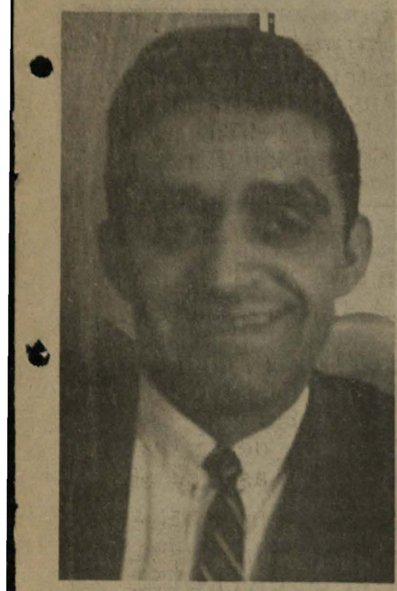
Iran teacher to study here for five weeks

Campbell Union High School District has been selected by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to entertain a teacher from Iran now visiting the United States for six months under the International Teacher Development Program.



PIR MALEKI
--from Iran

The teacher is 29-year-old Pir Mohammed Maliki, high school mathematics instructor, who arrived in Campbell this month for a five weeks study visit. He is one of some 20 foreign teachers who are now studying and traveling in the United States.

The group spent their first three months studying secondary education at Indiana University, and has now dispersed to various communities in the country to enable individuals to reinforce their academic study with actual experiences in local school situations.

The young Iran teacher was met upon arrival here by Superintendent Laurance J. Hill, and introduced to administrators of the district. His program here is designed to enable him to examine first-hand mathematics teaching methods in Campbell District High Schools, as well as to provide him with an understanding of American life.

Maleki's schedule will enable him to spend some time at each of the district's six high schools.

Campaign for school bus

Some 80 parents of children of the two nursery schools of Hope for Retarded Children and Adults, Inc., will begin a three-week campaign January 30 to obtain a second school bus for the non-profit, county-wide organization.

Goal of the parents is to a "minimum of 1, 600 trading stamp books" enough to buy a small 12 passenger bus to help transport handicapped children to and from "Hope" nursery schools on Bollinger Road in West San Jose and at the headquarters office, 838 Delmas Ave., San Jose. Mrs. Bud Scribner and Joe Donahue of Campbell are assisting with arrangements.

Pacific Telephone asks change in message-unit call charges

Details of Pacific Telephone's proposal to extend Campbell's local calling area and eliminate multi-message units were outlined today in testimony prepared for the California Public Utilities Commission in San Francisco.

If approved by the Commission, the plan would:

1. For an increased basic monthly rate, expand local calling areas in Campbell to include a large number of the present multi-message unit (MMU) areas, and

2. Convert to long distance the balance of the present MMU areas, with the charges itemized on the customer's bill.

The present local calling area includes Campbell, Saratoga, Los Gatos and San Jose.

For a basic monthly increase of $1.40 for one-party flat rate residences, Campbell's new local calling area would add Los Altos, Mountain View and Sunnyvale.

Within this area, all flat rate customers would have no restrictions on duration or number of calls to or from Campbell. A person could call whomever he wants and talk as long as he wants.

The proposal was presented to the Commission by C. F. Goode, Pacific's general commercial engineer.

Pacific Telephone said $82 million in gross construction will be needed throughout the areas involved to provide the improved service. Of that amount, $35 million will be spent in the Bay Area. Additional equipment will be needed to handle a greater volume of calls. In addition, revenues will be lost by the elimination of multi-message units. Thus, said the Company, an increase is needed in basic monthly rates to "break even" on the plan.

In April, 1963, the Commission requested the Pacific Company to study the local calling areas in San Francisco-East Bay, Los Angeles and San Diego. Plans to expand the local calling areas were submitted in November, 1963 and were revised in June 1964.

Goode said local calling areas generally were last established some 25 years ago and since then there have been considerable changes in population patterns and calling habits.

He stressed that local calling areas should take care of day-to-day calling requirements and that expansion of these areas will better meet a customer's daily needs.

Pacific Telephone now has an application for increased revenues before the Commission. If it is granted, five cents would be added to the basic residence rate.

Lutheran church elects council

Five new church council members were elected at the recent annual congregational meeting of Zion Lutheran Church. They are Earl Brothers, Maynard Goplen, Einar Gustavson, Ron Santucci and Ken Scott.

Last week-end the newly elected council members held a retreat at Mt. Cross in the Santa Cruz Mountains, at which time the council organized itself for the coming year. Also at the congregational meeting, a decision was made to accept a low bid of approximately $20,000 for surfacing the church parking lot and installing landscaping. Before the meeting adjourned, the congregational authorized the church council to appoint a planning and development committee.

The war on poverty and the "Great Society" are commendable objectives upon which all Americans agree. The goals themselves are not controversial, but the methods of achieving them may be.

Government supported programs like vocational education and manpower retraining can do much to upgrade human skills so individuals can be steadily employed at decent wages. Because these programs are administered locally and specially tuned to local economic realities, they have been successful. This raises the question of whether a massive and impersonal program planned in Washington can do as well.

By all the economic indicators my hometown of Gilroy, California, is enjoying a wave of prosperity along with the rest of the country. Bank and Savings and Loan deposits and school population have climbed steadily to set an all-time record in 1964. Postal receipts have nearly doubled in six years. Building permits and per capita income and wages have climbed each year. But the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Office of Economic Opportunity have recently designated our city as a "Pocket of Poverty" presumably on the basis that a disproportionate number of our citizens are welfare recipients.

Though it is changing rapidly, Gilroy is still primarily an agricultural community and much of its employment is seasonal. Many migrant families who work all over the state return to Gilroy for the winter in anticipation of occasional winter jobs and the "thinning" and "hoeing" in early spring. They have made Gilroy their permanent home because they like it and because its agricultural employment season is longer.

New junior college to cost $17.8 million

A budget estimate of $17,800,000 for site acquisition, improvement, construction and furnishing of West Valley College's first campus was presented to the district's Board of Trustees at its last meeting.

The figure, presented by Dr. Alexander Tarics of the architectural firm of Reid and Tarics of San Francisco, district architects, was $900,000 more than the $16,000,000 estimate of about one year ago--$16,000,000 of which was sought in an unsuccessful bond election of last March 10. Though approved by 58 percent of those voting, the majority was less than the 66 2/3 percent required by law.

Tarics said the increase was due largely to the increased cost of construction and of equipment for the proposed first campus. Estimate for the latter was increased $300,000 because, according to Tarics, "we now have a more detailed and accurate estimate of the furniture and equipment that will be needed" since development of a more comprehensive educational specification.

The projected costs, Tarics said, compare favorably with plant replacement costs at both Foothill College and College of San Mateo if the two colleges were planning to build their campuses now, at the time West Valley is making its plans to build. The projected plant at West Valley, he said, would have facilities equal to either of the two colleges.

Board members asked that the architects' estimates, the educational specifications and possible dates for a bond election be placed before the newly-formed 15-member advisory committee for study and recommendation.

Del Mar Dateline

By
Rosalie Ann Castello

Student Body elections were held at Del Mar on January 21 to elect the new spring semester officers. A president and three council members were chosen. The new Student Body President is Gary Buck and Judy Finch. Scott Martin and Jeff Walter were chosen for Student Council offices.

The Pancake Breakfast held in Del Mar's cafeteria on January 24 was a big success. The cafeteria was filled to capacity all morning as the principal of Del Mar, George Miskulin, served coffee to the guests. Other faculty members and parents served as flapjack flippers, egg crackers, batter stirrers and dish washers. The P.T.A. who sponsored the breakfast, are using the profits to buy Del Mar a new Public Address System, help the Year Book with extra funds, and give scholarships. The senior class headed the school in an interclass competition by selling 536 tickets. The sophomore class came in second and freshmen third.

A coming event at Del Mar is the Donkey-Basketball game scheduled for February 26. Included in this game are dads, teachers and students. The dads and teachers will ride the donkeys and show the students how to make a basket the 'right' way.

Eight to get SJS degrees

Eight Campbell residents will be among the more than 1000 seniors who have completed the requirements for graduation from San Jose State College at the end of the fall semester on January 29, according to Dr. Ralph R. Cummings, associate dean of students.

There will be no commencement exercises but mid-term graduates may participate in the June ceremonies.

Diplomas conferring B.A. degrees will be mailed to 596 mid-year students. B.S. degrees have been earned by 319 and Master of arts degrees will go to 55 and masters of science to 69.

Of the 1043 mid-year graduates, 134 are from states other than California and 22 from foreign countries.

The Campbell residents include: Keith R. Anderson, B.A., conservation; David Cimolino, B.S., business and industrial management; Anthony E. Faria, B.S., aeronautical maintenance; Mrs. Anna L. Grant, B.A., education; Larry R. Hammer, B.A., industrial arts; Bruce C. Johnson, B.S., art; William Major, Jr., B.S., civil engineering; Jean E. Shugh, M.A., sociology.

Congregation to hear Seminarian

A seminarian from the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Berkeley, will preach Sunday, January 31 at St. Lawrence Episcopal Church, the Rev. Alfred D. Carson announced today.

The guest preacher, William Eastman, of San Mateo is a junior at the seminary. He was invited by the local church so that the congregation can hear first-hand of the work being done at the West Coast seminary.
